

Ridgway gives range quality boost

Ridgway Optical has updated its entry-level Reaction line of frames, calling the new models 'next generation Reaction' because of the significant specification upgrade over the previous range.

The RA2223 (1) features an on-trend large lens profile and is pictured in a satin black hue with green internals.

The collection, made up of primarily women's styles, is made from hypoallergenic stainless steel and features laser cut designs and vibrant colour schemes. 'We have pulled out all the stops with the new collection - they are truly on a different level to the previous models,' said managing director David Ridgway, who added that only one manufacturer was involved.

The half-rim RA2224 (2) women's frame features colour-matched temple detailing.
